

Brentano Wins IIDA/HD Project Design Award

Brentano Design Director Iris Wang with award-winning drapery, Intersection.

Wheeling, IL (May 2008) While exhibiting for their first time at the HD 2008 Expo & Conference, Brentano was presented with the prestigious IIDA/HD Product Award in the bedspread/drapery category for their Intersection window treatment.

The Product Design Competition recognizes designers and manufacturers for excellence in product design. The awards honor innovation, function and aesthetic advancements in the hospitality industry. The award is cosponsored by the International Design Association (IIDA) and Hospitality Design Magazine, who also presented the conference.

Intersection is from Brentano's spring 2008 Surroundings Collection. This inventive pattern is constructed by sewing ribbons of fabric into a grid, forming a soft drapery ideal for contemporary window applications or atmospheric room dividers. Additionally, Intersection is 118" wide and weighted on one end with a 5" header on the other to simplify installation.
