

Romance - Spring 2026 Luminary Collection

With a new year comes new beginnings and Brentano's 2026 Luminary collection is no exception. The Luminary collection is a love letter to light. Beginning with drapery as its muse, it explores the quiet poetry of how light drifts, filters, and dances through a space, casting soft shadows and subtle movement, much like a painter capturing the fleeting glow on a canvas.

Through graceful vertical treatments, light is invited to linger and transform the room throughout the day. Each double-width drapery is designed to embrace light in its own way, sheer, layered, and luminous creating moments of depth, romance, and atmosphere. The result is an intimate interplay of fabric and illumination, where rooms feel warm, expressive, and effortlessly elegant.

More than a study of light alone, Brentano's Founder Iris Wang uses the Luminary collection to explore the beauty and depth of how light transforms and elevates nature itself. At the heart of the collection is Nightbloomer, a standout pattern inspired by the elusive Night Blooming Cereus, a flower that reveals its beauty only under moonlight and fades with the dawn. The design captures a sense of quiet mystery through soft color transitions and painterly movement.

This botanical reverie continues with Daylily, Nightbloomer's sister fabric, where a plush matelassé with linework offers a more structured yet equally poetic expression. Together, they balance organic softness with refined form.

Featuring 10 new patterns, 5 designed specifically for drapery, Luminary is a romantic exploration of light, pattern, and texture. Each design flows seamlessly into the next, creating curated palettes that cast drama, intrigue, and emotional depth into a space. Subtle variations in weave and tone allow the collection to respond beautifully to changing light, making it equally compelling in hospitality, contract, and residential environments where drapery and textiles become vessels for atmosphere and allure.

The design is meant to capture the quiet poetry of impermanence. The pattern translates this floral into a large-scale abstract fabric, with alternating yarns creating nuanced shifts in hue throughout. A subtle gradient defines 8 curated colorways, while bleach cleanability, a Non-PFAS Stain Treatment, and 100,000 Double Rubs (Wyzenbeek, Cotton Duck) ensure lasting performance. Romantic yet restrained, Nightbloomer brings depth, texture, and understated drama to refined interiors.
